LONG ISLAND and the CIVIL WAR

with HARRISON HUNT, Author and Historian

This slide/lecture presentation will be given by Harrison Hunt, Civil War re-enactor, author of Hallowed Ground and Heroes of the Civil War and a former Curator of History for the Nassau County Museum System. Mr. Hunt will explore the fascinating story of Long Island's role in the 'War Between the States' and describe the historic units and ships in which Long Islanders served, recount famous leaders and events that are connected with Long Island and discuss the Long Island "home front" activities. The program will not focus on the history of one unit but will tell the complete story of Long Island's role in this epic struggle.

with HARRISON HUNT, Author and Historian

Harrison Hunt's second slide/lecture presentation in the series will focus on the story of medical and surgical care given during the Civil War. The Civil War soldier, whether he came from the North or from the South, fought in a struggle in which disease killed far more men than bullets did. A highlight of the presentation will be an explanation of period surgical methods using actual antique surgical instruments.
