"THE PUBLIC" (2019) 122 min.  PG-13

After learning that emergency shelters are at full capacity when a brutal cold front makes its way to Cincinnati, a group of homeless library patrons refuse to leave the public library at closing time. What begins as a non-violent occupy sit-in and act of civil disobedience escalates into a standoff with local riot police led by a crisis negotiator (Alec Baldwin) and a savvy district attorney (Christian Slater), all as two librarians (Emilio Estevez and Jena Malone) are caught in the middle.

This is an experimental animated biographical film about the life of Vincent van Gogh and the circumstances surrounding his death. It is the first fully-painted animated feature film. Each of the film’s 65,000 frames is an oil painting on canvas using the same techniques as Van Gogh, created by a team of over 100 painters.
